Library description

Type of library: Metropolitan

Population served: More than 100.000

Short description of the library: Nice's municipal library was created in 1811 and in 2002 it was granted the label BMVR – Municipal Library with a Regional Vocation. Today the BMVR is a major network of 12 public libraries open to all and serving a population of 350,000 inhabitants. The network is open to the public an average of 50 hours a week. It is open from Monday to Saturday, with the Central library opening on Sunday too. Both access and loans are free in all the libraries of the network. The libraries cultural action is rich and varied : conferences, exhibitions, regular adult and youth workshops (coding clubs, handcraft, reading clubs, story telling, sustainable development....) , as well as mediation work aimed at schools and students . The network also takes an active part in heritage conservation and shared conservation particularly of children's books and music (the network owns the richest music collection outside Paris). The digitization of its heritage documents is an ongoing task, some of the documents digitized are accessible on line through our website.
